

Self-reflection Felicitas

In these two weeks I learned a lot.

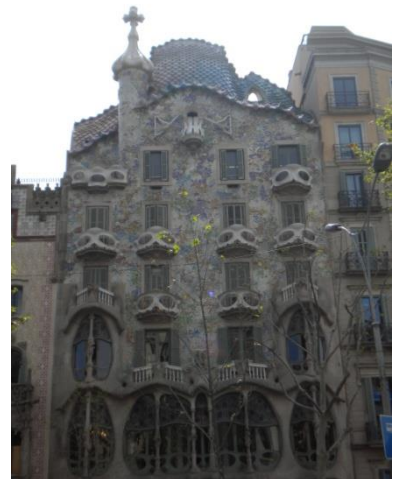

Working and living together with different people from different countries, speaking different languages was not always easy but an experience which I will keep in mind. We had to work hard every day and with the good sunny, but hot weather it was sometimes hard. But after these two weeks I can say that we discovered a city in a complete different way we would usually do.

Every day was different and we got sooooo much information that it was hard to remind everything and to handle it. So I felt sometimes really stressed.

In my opinion this program was a good way to get to know new people, getting a lot of new ideas for the work with children, see a city in a different way, here dragon-stories every day, eating a lot of white bread and having fun in the sun.

Lorraine and me had to prepare a little presentation about “doors”. So while I worked through the city I took so many pictures of doors. It was a good possibility to see Barcelona from a different angle.

The trip to the Park Güell was one of the best trips we did. To draw the skyline of Barcelona was exiting and I could relax for a bit with a nice few.

I made some intercultural experience when I was in Ireland for half a year. I worked there as an au-pair and I enjoyed it to live in another country.

14 days can be a long time. To be every day so close, with people you don't know, can be difficult but also amazing. I read a lot about group dynamics, so for me it was so interesting to see the movement of the group.

To get to know all the differences between all the countries was interesting. Now I know a lot more about People around the world (Europe). I would really like to make an exchange to another country. But I will definitely go to the beautiful beaches in Portugal!

Barcelona is a beautiful city with a lot of different places with their own atmospheres and different genius loci. I am sure I will come back to Barcelona Then I will come to the places we went with the IP but I will also go to different ones. And I will definitely have better breakfast, lunch and dinner!

I learned a lot about children and to work with them in a joyful way and with lot of different materials in different places in the city. To go out with children to explore the environment is so important and now we have so many new ideas what we can play, sing, work in a creative way, use all the senses and have fun with them. To work with kids from a Spanish school was so interesting and afterwards I was very satisfied with the work we had done together. To hear all the different school-systems from the other students was an important part of the IP. For me this trip turned into another direction I expected at the beginning. But it went well.

Thank you for the time in Barcelona!

Una copa cerveza porfavore!
Felicitas
